Confused Student Puts on Full at high speed It dragged the un Speed Instead of Slowing Down.

A green motorman, a crowded trolley car and slippery rails furnished a combination that deprived Mrs. Mary Phillips of a husband and her eight children of a father to-day. The accident happened at One Hundred and Fortieth street and Third avenue, Bronx Bor-of the Olin Stephens Coal Company at Mott Haven, was on his way to his home at One Hundred and Forty-fourth street and Third avenue. He started and Fortieth street as a north-bound Westchester avenue car jammed with passengers approached at high speed.

Bernard Gilbride, a motorman, who took his first lesson in running a car three days ago, had charge of the elec-tric control and brakes. Dennis Berkery, a skilled motorman, was on the front platform with him to guard against accidents. James P. Cleary, the conductor, was busy in the car collecting fares.

As the car approached the corner Gilbride beame confused and instead of slowing down put on tull speed. Phillips, apparently paying no attention to the car, stepped on the track directly in Berkery, the instructing motorman, pushed Gilbride aside and grabbed the controller and brake. He was too late. The car struck Phillips and he was wept under the wheels.

The sudden stop as Bergery put on the brakes, and the shock as the wheels ground over the body of Phillips, terrified the passengers on the car, most of whom were women. They fairly fought their way to the doors and ran screaming from the scene. Gilbride, the green motorman, ran away with the passen-gers and hid himself. His home is at No. 462 West One Hundred and Forty-

In the belief that Gilbride would try to get to his home adetecti ve was hurried there. About two hours after the accident Gilbride appeared and was arrested, charged with homicide.

Phillips's body was so wedged under the car that it was necessary to send for a wrecking crew to remove it. The operation consumed more than half an hour. So great was the crowd attracted that the reserves of the Alexander avenue station were summoned to keep Berkery, the supervising motorman, and Cleary, the conductor, were arn sted at the scene of the accident, Witnesses say that the car was running at a dangerous rate of speed, and vestigation of the accident.
